

Spyridon Papagrigoriou is President and Managing Director of consulting company Enveco SA since 1991. He is civil engineer graduate from National Technical University of Athens (NTUA) and specialized in Water Resources Engineering (Diploma), in environmental engineering (M.Sc) and in environmental economics (M.Litt) in universities of Dundee&Aberdeen of Scotland, UK. He has represented Greece in the EU in pertinence to subjects of environmental research, in OECD in pertinence to environmental politics, in the World Federation of Engineering Associations (WFEO) in issues of environmental engineering and in EFCA in issues related to environmental consulting. He has worked as coordinator of a multitude of studies in Greece and around the globe for environmental matters related to infrastructure projects, water resources management, atmospheric environment, waste, ecology, environmental economics, law and policy.