

Alexandra Peitsi is a Civil Engineer graduate of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. Her career has started since 2005 working on public and private construction projects, getting experience in the supervision and economic and technical management of projects.

She has started working on the design of projects since 2016 and she has been a partner and technical director of Consortis, a company of a team of approximately 100 partners based in Thessaloniki, since 2019. She coordinates and manages projects undertaken by Consortis, on design phase and engineering consultancy services. She has been the legal representative of the company since 2023.